A PLAN - AND A SPY !

Things had been quiet around L.O.S.D. lately, and members were spreading into a world-organatie-- organization. INinth- In their secret headquarters in the slums of New York L.O.S.D was making up a plot to create a world-wide acne ring. Not all the members could be there, though. Some of them were in other countries performing missions. They decided that they would start in North America, sweep down to South America, across to Africa, over to Europe, into Asia, and finish up in Australia. They thought this was a great plan, and they started making preparations immediately. But little did they know that an evil plot was being made to stop the L.O.S.D forever, They were all happy over the idea of the world-wide acne ring, and they started making plans within the next hour. They were ready in a few days and they decided to start in Canada.

Suddenly Wen Woman jumped up and saw a spy. She yelled for the other members to catch him, but when they got outside, he had disappeared.

"WOULD THE LEGION HAVE TO START ANOTHER PLOT BECAUSE OF THE SPIES???????"

BUGGED

Suddenly Carbuncle Kid saw, out of the corner of his eye, something move. He ran over and saw that it was the spy. They took him into their headquarters and searched him. They found a card in his wallet saying that he was a man from S.O.A.P. They found a cake of soap in his pocket that was really a walkie-talkie. They also found a Jergen's lotion bottle that you could take the bottom out of and it turned into a gun. They took him into their questioning room and gave him a truth serum. He told them that the men from S.O.A.P. were out to stop L.O.S.D. The truth serum wore off then and he took a pill that gave him amnesia. The Legion members didn't know if he had given the information to headquarters or not. Suddenly Boil Boy had an idea. He thought that maybe the Legion could test their acne serum on the spy. They did it and it worked. When he got out of L.O.S.D. headquarters he had amnesia, acne, boils, athletes' foot, goiter, and a whole cluster of wens. (There were also roaches crawling all over him.)

"Now, back to the plan," said Polyps Person. They had decided to go to Alaska as soon as they finished Canada, then go down to the rest of the United States, into Mexico and Central America, and then do the South American continent. They had already made the rest of the plans so they decided to get started as soon as they could. They wrote a letter to Goiter Gal and Lice-beard Boy (the newest L.O.S.D. member) that they would contact them in Lebanon.

"BUT LITTLE DID THEY KNOW THAT THEY WERE BEING BUGGED BY THE MEN FROM S. O. A. P. !!!!!!"

A Trap!

They went up to Canada and then Polyps Person had an idea. The thought came to him that the Canadians were mostly lumberjacks and didn't care if they had acne or not. They called up Goiter Gal and asked her to send over some black hairy tongue disease and and they found some contacts to get some of the dread Jamaican Vomiting Sickness germs. In a few days they had as much as they needed and started out for the first lumber camp. When they got there, however, before they could do anything, about a hundred S.O.A.P. agents ran out of the forest and started to come towards them. Wen Woman, being the leader, had lots of experience and quick reactions. Before any of the other Legion members did anything, she pulled Wen seeds out of her first-aid kit and squirted everybody in sight. Then she flew and gathered all the Legionnaires together and flew off, spreading acne as they went.

When they got their temporary headquarters they discussed what had happened. "This is bad," said Fungus Fellow, "They're on to us." Nobody noticed that Polyps Person had fainted. Suddenly Wen Woman looked at him and told all the other Legionnaires that he had fainted. They brought him to with a rabies shot and he said that he felt much better now that rabies were flying through his system. They found out that he had been squirted with Lysol. They wiped it off and decided that they would strike at night.

It was six o'clock then and they decided to go at midnight. Suddenly they heard a scream and went out to see what was happening. As they ran out, they saw two big ditches overflowing with iodine, and it was seeping in behind them. The only thing they could do was run forward. Wen Woman was about to take off, but suddenly a huge trap door dropped out below them, and they fell through into a huge room whose bottom was covered with a sticky substance. They dropped into it and found they they would sink in it like quicksand.

They felt themselves sinking slowly, up to their ankles, their knees, their waists, their necks, their chins.

"IS THIS THE END OF OUR BELOVED LEGION??? WILL WE EVER SEE THEM AGAIN???"

BE PREPARED !

Boil Boy had been watching some late night movies, where people had been unprepared, so he decided to come prepared for anything. He had a secret life raft hidden in the heel of his shoe, which expanded as soon as it came into contact with any wet substance. It floated up ^{to} the surface and everybody got in. They paddled over to the side of the pool and crawled out. The agent on duty had fallen asleep and the members easily captured him. They gave him some truth serum and found out that he was agent 0099 44/100 of S.O.A.P. He was a high-ranking member and told them the location of S.O.A.P. headquarters. He also told them where the ventilation system was, and when he came to his senses he got the same treatment as the first spy.

The dread Jamaican Vomiting Sickness and Black Hairy Tongue (BHT) both came on flying cockroaches. (They went to the location of S.O.A.P. headquarters even though it was in the U.S. and got all preparations ready for attacking S.O.A.P. HQ. They had a few thousand cockroaches, and they let them all loose in the HQ.

"WILL L. O. S. D. TRIUMPH AGAIN ?????? "

TRICKED !

But S.O.A.P. had an alarm system that warned them of the cockroaches. Their computers told them what diseases the cockroaches were carrying and they got shots to prevent serious illness. The cockroaches had served their purpose, though, for they got a minor disease and L.O.S.D could come in and capture all the leaders and wreck the computers. They brought the leaders back to Canada and gave them truth serum to find out how big S.O.A.P. really was. But they made a very startling discovery! Agent 0099 44/100 had really taken an antidote for the truth serum and had given them the wrong information! S.O.A.P. had informed the other building the the L.O.S.D. had attacked and they had put up warning devices. They learned all this from the so-called leader. But now S.O.A.P. was in hiding because they had seen what LOSD had done to the other place. LOSD gave the Canadians BHT and acne, but by the time they got to America S.O.AP was fully back to normal. Boil Boy had gotten some money for his birthday and bought a chemistry set. He made a computer and used it to process information gained from a captured S.O.A.P. agent.

"WILL L.O.S.D. GET S.O.A.P. HEADQUARTERS???"

PENICILLIN

where

They found out S.O.A.P.'s H.Q. was. They had fixed up Mr. Penicillin's secret laboratory. The Legionaires flew down on Wen Woman's back to the slums of New York, where they got some equipment. They went to Texas and into the laboratory. They took their equipment in a boat out to the middle of the pond on top of Mr. Penicillin's laboratory. They turned on the equipment and it stunned the S. O. A. P. members. They went in, got the walkie-talkies that the S.O.A.P. members always carried on missions, and turned them on. All the S.O.A.P. members were listening, so they turned on their high frequency Wen Waves, that made wens and then, after a minute of listening, popped them. All the S.O.A.P. members had to go into a hospital so L.O.S.D. got America and swept into South America, across Africa, into Europe, and then stopped in the Middle East to visit with and pick up Goiter Gal and Lice-beard Boy.
